ASQ Award Recipients Honored at Toronto AQC

ASQ's 2003 awards were presented in a ceremony during the May Annual Quality Congress (AQC) in Toronto. The recipients were:

- James R. Evans and William M. Lindsay, the Crosby Medal for co-authoring the book The Management and Control of Quality.
- Lloyd P. Provost, the Deming Medal for helping organizations improve through W. Edwards Deming's theory of management.
- Harriet Black Nembhard, the Armand V. Feigenbaum Medal for work in quality engineering as a young quality professional using rigorous theoretical tools to solve real problems.
- John Edward "Jack" West, the Freund-Marquardt Medal for long and successful leadership in developing and implementing quality management systems and for major contributions to management standards literature.
- Kenneth E. Case, the Eugene L. Grant Medal for leadership and service in quality education.
- Donald L. Dewar, the Ishikawa Medal for lifetime contributions to continuous improvement, human relations and the implementation of quality circles and for teaching and publishing Kaoru Ishikawa's principles related to the human side of quality and team building.
- John A. Young, the Juran Medal for the promotion of total quality through his 10X leadership challenge at Hewlett-Packard.
- Tito A. Conti, the Lancaster Medal for advancing knowledge in organizational improvement models and for contributions to quality development in Europe and the growth of international cooperation.
- Wayne B. Nelson, the Shewhart Medal for technical leadership, particularly innovative developments and applications of theory and methods for analyzing quality, reliability and accelerated test data and for disseminating these developments.

- Benjamin J. Nelson and George C. Runger, the Brumbaugh Award for co-authoring the paper "Predicting Processes When Embedded Events Occur: Dynamic Time Warping," which ran in volume 35, issue 2, of the Journal of Quality Technology.

ASQ's newest Distinguished Service Medalists and Honorary Members, announced earlier, were also honored at AQC. The Edwards Medal was not presented for 2003.
